ANNOUNCEMENTS

James J. Casey in New Position.
James J. Casey, the popular bakery man, who for the last 20 years has been supplying the local trade with their wants in the bakery line, has severed his connection with the Providence bakery and starts out this morning in his new position as manager for the Dexter bakery, of Springfield, Mass. He will be glad to take care of his old customers and has many new ones as wish his services.

W. C. T. U. Conference.

Discussion of the million membership drive is to be taken up at a conference of the W. C. T. U. to be held this (Monday) afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in the rooms over the City Library. Mrs.
Caroline Buell, state president, and Mrs. Mary T. Nelson, also a state officer, are to be the chief speakers. A large attendance is expected.

NEW YORK MEN BUY

BRIGGS RESIDENCE
The so-called Briggs residence at 175 Broadway was sold on Saturday by John A. Moran, the real estate broker, to P. William Dougherty and Ricklet Jensen of New York. For a number of years past the place has been owned by Floyd Cranks of Moosup, but has been occupied only by a caretaker. It is the intention of the two new owners to improve the property considerably.
The Briggs home is one of the best built residences in the city, being entirely of brick. It has 13 rooms, with two baths, and is modern in every respect. The estate also has a barn and garage sufficiently large to enable the placing of eight automobiles in it and the caretaker's apartments. The lot itself on Broadway has a frontage of 53 feet, with a depth of 50 feet, which carries the property to the border of the state property on McKinley avenue, on which are armory stands, and the easterly end of the lot is 115 feet wide.

JOINT RECITAL.

Great interest is manifested in the joint recital by Mary Jordan, the distinguished contralto, and Maurice Dambols, the great Belgian 'celloist', to be given in Slater hall on Tuesday evening, April 29th, at 8 o'clock.

MARY JORDAN

This is the second concert in the Academy musical course and a large audience is expected.
Mary Jordan is an artist of extraordinary brilliancy and charm. In operatic and concert she has appeared with the foremost orchestras and under the most important auspices. As leading contralto of the Century Grand Opera company she scored a great success. Miss Jordan's voice is rich, sweet and powerful. Few singers are in more constant demand and few have greater artistic attainments.
Maurice Dambols stands pre-eminent among the few truly great 'celloists of the world. It took but one season in America to convince both critics and the public of this fact, and to confirm the foreign verdict that he has few, if any, equals among present day masters of the 'cello. In Europe he achieved marked success in his concert tours in Holland, Belgium and England. In America his supreme qualities as a 'celloist are widely known and the demands for his appearances testify to his ability to fulfill them.
The program rendered will be varied and distinctive. Of marked interest will be given for the benefit of the Red Cross.

DREED THEATRE.
A picture with a plot, characters who live, a star who is the best that can be had, excellent photography and splendid direction—all these are the features of the latest picture, "The Proposition Wife," which is the feature attraction at the Dreed theatre today and Tuesday. The story is about a girl who, after having spent most of her life in a fast cafe and two years in a reformatory, offers herself to a wealthy New Yorker in exchange for clothes and the luxuries of life. Much to her surprise he marries her. She calls herself his proposition wife. The term of probation does not last long when love enters their life. The Proposition Wife is by far the best picture that Norma Talbot has yet done.
Pearl White will also be seen in the 15th chapter of "The Lightning Raider" and a comedy two-part Sunshine comedy entitled "His Musical Success and the Pathe News makes up the remainder of the bill.

The War Baby.

Florence Edna May, a brilliant young playwright, is the author of the new drama that has given scope for much discussion, both for and against its stage representation. It is "The War Baby," the plot of which has to do with the subject of what is to be the future

Scene from the "Unmarried Mother" which comes to the Auditorium for Three days starting next Thursday. of children born out of wedlock. Without any semblance of sensationalism, the young dramatist has taken one of the most vital questions of the day and turned it into a remarkable play which has been hailed every where. At the same time, Miss May has succeeded in offering the most strenuous scenes and situations with some refreshing comedy.

The "Unmarried Mother" is a modern drama and with the present tendency of the theatre as an educational institution, as well as a place of amusement, plays like "The Unmarried Mother" are bound to find favor. This is a play that every woman and girl in this city should see. It opens at the Auditorium for three days, May 1, 2, 3.
We daily meet for ladies only. No one under 16 years of age admitted. It will doubtless duplicate the wonderful business that it has enjoyed during its long run in Philadelphia, New York and other cities.

AUDITORIUM.

Mabel Normand as the hoydenish Mabel Penelope Peck in her latest Goldwyn picture, "Peck's Bad Girl," which comes to the Auditorium theatre beginning today, appears to single out portly persons as victims of the pranks that etch all Yaptank. Take Adam Hobbs, the village's fattest citizen, for instance. Mabel never was happy when she wasn't making life miserable for him.
Hobbs, as all the villagers, including Mabel, know, is very much in love with Sue Mason, one of the village belles.
But Mabel for some reason cares as little for Sue as she does for Adam.
While walking up the main street Mabel spies Adam and Sue strolling near the barber shop in earnest conversation. Adam, who always sports a cane, is leaning on it from behind as the village scamp passes, or rather pretends to pass.

Suddenly Hobbs does a most un-graceful flop on the sidewalk. Just then Mabel is seen running down the street with her dog. The barber, who she watched Mabel at work from the store window, rushes out to tell Adam what caused his downfall. He explains that Mabel first tied the dog's chain to the pump and then whistled for the pup.
There is no cure for the irrepressi-ble Mabel, in the opinion of the villagers, so they decide to grin and bear it. But change comes in the life of Mabel after her first meeting with Richard Hayes, a newcomer to Yaptank, who is there in the guise of a jewelry salesman, but who is in reality a private detective working to frustrate a plot to loot the Yaptank bank.
To make an impression on Richard, she must improve her appearance as well. So Mabel gets a job in the millinery shop as errand girl and general assistant to Hortense Martini, the proprietress. Her work at the millinery proves of valuable assistance to Hayes in his plans to round up the robbers.
In some way connected with the robbery, Mabel discovers the culprits at their work of drilling into the millinery shop to gain access to the bank vaults and helps Richard in overpowering and bringing to justice all those concerned in the attempted robbery.

DAVIS THEATRE.

William S. Hart's new Artcraft picture, "Breeds of Men," is a story of a hard development scheme in Arizona and the unprincipled methods of a land shark are exhibited in all their bold and heartless details. Mr. Hart appears as a bad man who becomes short-sighted and finally rounds up the individual who has swindled all kinds of people out of their money. The picture will be shown at Davis theatre Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.
The Keith vaudeville in "Lazar and Dale" in a comedy musical offering Harry and Anna Scrantom in 1919 Capers, a real novelty; Georgia Em-met, the Irish lassie, in songs and dances; Barton Holmes Travelsogue and a funny Lyons and Moran comedy completes the show. See the gentleman in Who's Who? turn and face the audience. Twenty-five dollars in prizes to the lucky one.

EMIL M. FOX SELLS
WHOLESALE BAKERY DEPT.
Emil M. Fox has disposed of the wholesale department of his Norwich bakery business to the Dexter Bakery Company of Springfield, Mass. He will continue to retail bakery business, also going into the wholesale flour business. See 24.
